

AS SEEN IN

IN
NEW YORK

THE CITY'S RICHEST
TRAVEL EXPERIENCE

eclectic collector

ART, ANTIQUES & STYLISH FINDS

» by Troy Segal

MICHAEL ROSENFELD GALLERY

Opening Gambit

After nearly a quarter-century on 57th Street, the Michael Rosenfeld Gallery has headed south—specifically, to a new light-filled space in Chelsea that's more than double the size of its previous digs. To celebrate, the gallery is hosting a major show, "a reintroduction of who we are and what we stand for," says Director Hallie Harrisburg. Indeed, INsite/INchelsea offers nothing less than a survey course in 20th- and 21st-century American art, with 70-odd works that span the decades, movements and media. From Modernist Raymond Jonson's jazzy "City Lights" (above, 1933), to a 1973 back-to-folkcrafts vase by Peter Voukos, it's a commemoration of the country's brilliantly diverse creatives. » Michael Rosenfeld Gallery, 100 11th Ave., 212.247.0082, thru Mar. 9

IN New York magazine is distributed monthly in-room and at the concierge desks of leading hotels in the New York tri-state area, in every cabin on every trans Atlantic crossing of the Queen Mary 2, leading corporate housing locations, in-flight and in VIP lounges of domestic and international airlines and in Amtrak's First-Class Acela Lounges. Visit us at innewyork.com